Learning to Learn Mathematics

Reflecting on and appreciating your learning

1. Why do we use testing (or sampling) to validate our conjectures, perceptions, or understandings?

2. What role does context play when it comes to applying mathematical knowledge?

3. How do you build confidence in your intuition with respect to sampling?

4. Why is it important that limitations are respected when using statistics?

© 2014 Pacific Crest